

Open Mic at the Oldest Bar Poetry Reading in the Village

The Back Fence
155 Bleeker Street (corner of Thompson Street)

Join us at the oldest bar poetry reading in the Village!
Every Sunday afternoon from 3pm - 5pm for our open mic poetry. It's hosted by renown poet, Brigid Murnaghan.

Do you read your poetry in your dark room thinking no one will listen to you? You're frightened what people will think. They'll think you've got guts to read. Every Sunday there is an open reading. Two features are selected. The features are from the open reading. Just think everyone had their first reading at the Fence. Come one and come all. The only restriction is you can't be stoned!

Transportation:

#6 to Lafayette and Bleecker, 4 blocks west.

E, F, B, D, Q, A, C to W 4th Street. South to Bleecker and 3 blocks east.

N & R to Prince Street. North to Bleecker and 3 blocks west.
